Dance to feature Hellenic beauty

OPERATING dance schools in Earlwood, Bexley North and Hurlstone Park, the Rallis School of Greek Dance (RSGDSYD) celebrates 20 years of dancing excellence this year. During that time, owner and artistic director Rallis Vatalidis has captured the hearts of thousands by preserving and promoting Hellenic heritage and culture to third and fourth generation Greeks living in Australia.

Renowned for stage productions, RSGDSYD will produce the biggest and best theatrical production the school has ever staged, 'Gods Myths Dance', on Saturday, March 25, from 6.30pm at the National Institute of Dramatic Arts (NIDA), 215 Anzac Parade, Kensington.
